

Editor's Notes: Acknowledgments 2016–17

In 2007 EJW was done the great honor and service of being taken in by the Atlas Network (then called the Atlas Economic Research Foundation), thanks especially to the kindness of Alejandro Chafuen, Brad Lips, Rómulo López, and the late Leonard Liggio. After ten years of generous support and always excellent assistance from Atlas, EJW is moving under a new roof. EJW will be ever grateful to Atlas for the tremendous help and friendship given to the project. We thank also Atlas friends (present and past) Harry Kalsted and Jim Cardillo.

EJW is now honored again by the opportunity to move to the Fraser Institute, Canada's leading think tank. The Fraser Institute is one of the great classical liberal organizations, and it is the parent of the Economic Freedom project led by James Gwartney, Robert Lawson, Joshua Hall, and Fred McMahon; EJW has published numerous articles that make significant use of the index (see 1, 2, 3, 4, 5). The move has been facilitated by the Institute's Executive Vice-President Jason Clemens. EJW is proud indeed to have a partner in the Fraser Institute, and very grateful.

I would like to extend the usual thanks, eminently due, and heartily felt, to co-editors Garrett Jones, George Selgin, and Larry White, editorial advisor Jane Shaw Stroup, web designer and master John Stephens, and my chief partner in the project, Managing Editor Jason Briggeman. Also, for occasional service to the journal, Ryan Daza, Eric Hammer, and Erik Matson.

For friendship and vital sponsorship over the past two years, we are grateful to donors. We thank the Charles G. Koch Foundation and the John William Pope Foundation. I am very grateful to Rich and Mary Fink and the Fink family for the generous Mercatus Center JIN chair ("JIN" for three of the family's beloved), which I hold and that helps to support EJW.

We are grateful to our authors, for generously contributing their creativity, craftsmanship, and industriousness, as well as for their patience and cooperation in our editorial process.

The "Classical Liberalism in Econ, by Country" authors should be thanked in particular for their courage in standing up for liberal causes, often under professional and ideological adversity, some under conditions of personal danger to themselves and their family.

We thank the following individuals for generously providing intellectual accountability to EJW:

Referees during 2016–17

Larry Arnhart	Northern Illinois University
Brendan Beare	University of California, San Diego
Donald Bellomy	Honam University, South Korea
Niclas Berggren	Research Institute of Industrial Economics, Stockholm
Sebastien Bradley	Drexel University
William Butos	Trinity College
Nicholas Capaldi	Loyola University, New Orleans
Yen-Cheng Chang	National Taiwan University
Young Back Choi	St. Johns University, New York
Julio Cole	Universidad Francisco Marroquín
Enrico Colombatto	University of Turin
Tyler Cowen	George Mason University
David O. Cushman	Westminster College, Pennsylvania
Michael Eames	Santa Clara University
Francesco Forte	Sapienza University of Rome
Warren Gibson	San Jose State University
Peter Gordon	University of Southern California
Adam Gurri	Liberal Currents
Jonathan Haidt	New York University
Steve Hanke	Johns Hopkins University
Jac Heckelman	Wake Forest University
James R. Hines	University of Michigan
Tim Kane	Stanford University
April Kelly-Woessner	Elizabethtown College
Mark Koyama	George Mason University
Rómulo López	Atlas Network
Cesar A. Martinelli	George Mason University
Erik Matson	George Mason University
Bruce McCullough	Drexel University
Sophie Miller	George Washington University
Casey Mulligan	University of Chicago
Daniel Petrenko	University of Maryland
Peter C. B. Phillips	Yale University
John Quiggin	University of Queensland
Julie Roin	University of Chicago
Paul Rubin	Emory University
Birgir Thor Runolfsson	University of Iceland

EDITOR'S NOTES

Patricia Saenz	George Mason University
Jane Shaw Stroup	John William Pope Foundation
Alex Tabarrok	George Mason University
Slaviša Tasić	University of Mary
James Stacey Taylor	College of New Jersey
Luca Tedesco	Università degli Studi Roma Tre
Richard Vedder	Ohio University
Richard E. Wagner	George Mason University
Ning Wang	Ronald Coase Institute
W. Kip Viscusi	Vanderbilt University
Matt Zwolinski	San Diego University

Commented-on authors replying in EJW, published 2016–17

Kenneth S. Rogoff	Harvard University	(article link)
-------------------	--------------------	--------------------------------

Other individuals who published commentary on EJW material in EJW, published 2016–17

Bruce E. Kaufman	Georgia State University	(article link)
Stefán Ólafsson	University of Iceland	(article link)